

Our customer referral program rewards you for sharing the products and services you love with your family and friends. This program includes the following products nestled under the parent company of Promptings. These product lines include:

- SendOutCards
- Gratitude System Expert Service
- Promptings Academy

By sharing products and services from each of these companies, you can earn referral credits toward your own purchases from any of the Promptings products.

Share and be rewarded now!

How do I earn free products?

Certain products and services under Promptings have commissionable volume. When you refer family and friends who purchase those products and services from Promptings, you accumulate volume. Every time you accumulate 240 in commissionable volume from the people you personally refer, you earn a $50 credit towards future purchases or monthly subscriptions from Promptings.

How many $50 credits can I earn?

Great news! You are not limited in the number of credits you can earn from the people you personally refer to Promptings.

How do I enroll my family and friends as customers of the Promptings companies so I can receive points for their purchases?

To enroll people under you, you simply share your unique referral link with them. This is in your dashboard when you are logged into your customer account. The link in your dashboard is specifically for you. You can refer people to any Promptings product lines. Referral links can be sent via text, email, and social media channels. Once they have become a customer of Promptings, just like you, they will have their own username and password on Promptings and you will get credit for their purchases!

Where can I see my award credits?

You can find your credits by logging into your customer account and visiting your dashboard.

How do I use my credits?

At check out, you will be asked if you would like to apply the credit to your current order. Any amount of the credit remaining after the purchase will carry over to be used on a future purchase or subscription.
